

1. A LETTER TO GOD – G.L Fuentes

Lencho was a poor farmer. He had the field of ripe corn. He needed a downpour to make his harvest good. But the rain turned into hailstones, which destroyed his whole crop of corn. He had faith in God. So he decided to seek help from God. He wrote a letter to God for helping him with hundred pesos. The post office employees made fun of him, but the postmaster decided to help him. The postmaster collected seventy pesos from his friends and employees and sent him. Lencho was angry to receive seventy pesos in place of hundred. He wrote another letter to God demanding rest of thirty pesos. He also requested to send the money through another means because what he believed was that the post office employees were bunch of crooks.