Answer-

The First Day of Rainy Season

The rainy season had just set in. our school had reopened on 1stjuly. I was on my way to school. I had reached half way when the drizzle became a downpour. The underground sewage being choked, rain water flooded the roads. The traffic had stopped. It rained heavily for one an hour. Many vehicles got choked. People at bus stops remained stranded. Some children dropped the idea of going to school. They floated paper boats in the knee deep dirty water. They were enjoying the fun by splashing water on one another. Drains, tanks and ponds were filled with water. Trees and plants looked fresh and green. The rain had brought a welcome relief to everyone. I was completed drenched. Some children asked me to return home. However I trudged through rain water and reached school.

Q2. Imagine that your parents had gone to your uncle's house and you were alone at home for the day. Write a paragraph of about 80 words on how you managed things on the day when you were alone. (7)

Answer-

One day alone at home

One day I was alone at home. My parents were gone in a marriage party. Next day it was my English paper. I have to stay at home. I got up early in the morning. I went on the roof. Cool air was blowing. I did some exercise. It was refreshing. After bath, I sat for study. I read some paragraphs and practiced unseen –passages. My concentration was high. I was really enjoying my study. After taking breakfast, I took rest for one hour. Then I learnt Question-Answers of first book. In the afternoon, I watched TV. Then I slept for some time. In the evening I learnt Question-Answers of second book and revised grammar portion. I called my friend and we practiced some exercises of grammar. By 8:00 pm my revision was complete.
