

Rendezvous with Ray

Summary:

Apu Trilogy is a Bengali film which comprises of three stories, directed by Satyajit Ray. It is considered to be the greatest movie of all times. The French-Canadian priest Gaston Roberge was very impressed with this movie. After watching the movie he came to Calcutta. He and Satyajit Ray became good friends. Ray was an icon of Indian cinema at that time. Gaston Roberge in his book Satyajit Ray Essays explains in detail Ray's work. He also explains that Ray is a great person and an artist. He associated Bengal with Tagore and Mother Teresa. One important fall out of this friendship was the establishing Chitrabani. It is a communication and film institute. This is the first of its kind institute in West Bengal. Roberge founded it in 1970.

