

SCHOOL'S GOOD BYE - Lord Eustace Percy

It is said that there is no end to learning and it accompanies a man till his death. Education never comes to an end at the end of the school career. Students completing their school curriculum enter the wider world of competition. In order to materialize their dreams, students should carry on their learning even after their school. Success and failure of life largely depends on health. More over a healthy mind live in a healthy body. So writer sincerely advices the students to given up smoking and drinking because it stunts their mind and clouds their brain. Success is not easily obtained. It is the outcome of hard work, sincerity, and ceaseless effort. By the God's mercy, they have a sound mind in a sound body. Our loyalty to the duties of our nation and its high ideas should be well kept. With the development in the character they can achieve real success in life.
