

The Dear Departed-1

Summary:

Mrs. Slater went to her father's room. She saw that he was lying on the bed. He was not moving at all. She thought her father was dead. She informed her sister. She knew that her sister and her husband will come quickly. Before they came, Mrs. Slater and her husband removed the new desk from father's room and kept an old desk there. Her sister Mrs. Jordan and her husband came. But they didn't go to see their father. They decided to share their father's valuables among themselves. They wanted the insurance premium receipt. They thought the receipt would be in the father's desk. Mrs. Slater asked her daughter to bring the desk's key from father's room. The daughter came back. She was scared. She said that grandfather was getting up. Mrs. Slater told her that he was dead." Just then, the door opened and father came out.
